

Comparative Philology Graduate Seminar – TT 2025

Work in Progress / Research Colloquium

Convenors:

Tim Barnes, Michele Bianconi, Andreas Willi

Le May Seminar Room, Sultan Nazrin Shah Building, Worcester College
Tuesdays, 2.15-4pm

Week 2 (6 May)	Prof. Mark Janse (University of Gent/University of Cambridge) “The Anatolian and Ionic substrates in Asia Minor Greek”
Week 3 (13 May)	Dr Marta Capano (Università per Stranieri, Siena) “Paths of diffusion of the Rhodian infinitives across the Greek dialects”
Week 4 (20 May)	Jonathan Walls “Hittite metrical phonology”
Week 5 (27 May)	Carlo de Cristofaro “Introduction to Tsakonian”
Week 6	no Tuesday meeting, but see below: Philology Day on Saturday 7 June
Week 7 (10 June)	Blake Lopez “The status of Latin final -m in literary and subliterate texts of the Roman empire”
Week 8 (17 June)	Professor John Lowe “The meanings of ca ‘and’ in the Sanskrit lexicographic tradition”

Note also the following event:

Oxford-Cambridge-London Philology Day: Saturday 7 June 2025, 11am–4pm
(Jesus College, Cambridge)

with the following Oxford contributions:

Allison Murphy

“Traversing the entropic landscape: measuring mutual information in the Greek syllabic scripts”

Simon Fries

“Why and how do infinitives turn into moods? On the emergence of the East Baltic subjunctive”